CAMBRIDGE EXAMS

The First Certificate in English (FCE)

The FCE is an intermediate level of examination which requires a knowledge of all language skills and is widely recognised in commerce and industry (particularly in the service industries) as well as by many educational institutions in France and abroad.

The Certificate in Advanced English (CAE)

It is designed to offer a high level qualification in the language to those wishing to use English for professional or study purposes. It is recognised by many British universities for English language entrance requirements, by French institutions of higher education and for managerial positions in commerce and industry requiring a good mastery of English.

The Certificate of Proficiency English (CPE)

It indicates a level of competence which is recognised as fulfilling entrance requirements in English language by British universities, by universities in English-speaking countries and by many universities and 'Grandes Ecoles' in France. The Certificate of Proficiency is a qualification for admission to courses or employment with professional bodies, and international institutions and organisations throughout the world in which a thorough knowledge of English is required. In some countries it is also a teaching qualification for teachers of English.
